InZinc Announces Tenure Expansions at the Indy Sedex Project, BC A Global Mining and Metals Producer Stakes Adjacent Tenure

Vancouver, BC – InZinc Mining Ltd. (TSX-V: IZN) (the “Company”) is pleased to announce it has increased its mineral claims at the Indy project (100% option) in central British Columbia to encompass 19,900 ha (199 km²).

Independently, and in late 2021, a Canadian subsidiary of South32 (ASX, LSE, JSE), acquired by staking 20,300 ha (203 km²) of mineral claims adjoining and on trend to the northwest of the Indy Sedex project (Figure 1). South32 is a globally diversified mining and metals company producing bauxite, alumina, aluminum, metallurgical coal, manganese, nickel, silver, lead and zinc in Australia, Southern Africa, with two development options in North America and several partnerships with junior explorers around the world.

New Mineral Claims Acquired

InZinc recently acquired, by staking, an additional 6 contiguous mineral claims (7,600 ha) at the Indy project. These recently acquired claims include selective coverage of results from grassroots efforts by Noranda Exploration between 1987 and 1990. The total mineral claims comprising the Indy project have increased by approximately 75% since January 2021, reflecting the results from 2021 exploration efforts and compilation of historical exploration in the region. InZinc's tenure now extends the Indy property along a continuous 29 km trend supported by easy access and nearby infrastructure.

2022 Exploration Planning Underway

In 2018, near surface, high-grade Sedex-type zinc mineralization was discovered by soil geochemistry and follow-up diamond drilling at Indy. Since discovery, InZinc has outlined an additional 8.2 km of base and precious metal drill targets on the Indy claim package which remain to be tested.

Additional soil geochemical results from the 2021 exploration program are pending review. InZinc has commenced planning for a multi-disciplinary exploration program at Indy in 2022. Details of this program, which includes proposed drilling, are expected at the beginning of Q2-2022.

About InZinc

InZinc is well financed and focused on growth through exploration and advancement of its direct and equity interest in multiple North American base metals projects. The road accessible Indy project (100% earn-in), located in central British Columbia, comprises discoveries of near surface mineralization and large untested exploration targets along a 29 km long trend with potential for the discovery of a new regional scale zinc belt. InZinc is also a significant shareholder of American West Metals (ASX: AW1) which is advancing the West Desert zinc-copper project and the Storm Copper and Copper Warrior projects in North America. In addition, InZinc will receive 50% of the revenue (NSR) from the sale of indium mined from West Desert.
